

Athens Station; 1900-02, Guntersville District; 1903-06, Woodlawn Station; 1907-09, Sylacauga Station; 1910, Pratt City Station; 1911-12, Tuscumbia Station; 1913-15, Jasper Station. On November 3, 1915, at Athens, he asked for the superannuate relation, and it was granted. When Brother Morris became an itinerant minister, and for a long time after, few were the "fat" salaries found—salaries were slender, and rations short not infrequently. During his first seven years his salary ranged from $47 to $300. In one circuit, amid-year, his horse died; and he walked 1,400 miles in serving that circuit to the end of the year. He had a family of six—the salary was less than $300. In this connection, he says that he and his wife learned economy, educated ten children, "and never left a debt or an account unpaid." In 1894, at Athens, Bishop Duncan named Brother Morris as a member of the commission to measure the feasibility of the North Alabama Conference undertaking the task of building a college for boys and men. In 1887, at Tuscaloosa, by episcopal appointment, he was made a member of the commission, then and there appointed and empowered to locate, build, and equip this same college of much moot. He was a member of the first Board of Trustees of the college at Owenton, resigning therefrom in 1904. Throughout that fretful time and difficult task full part was his in foresight and devotion and invaluable service, with heroic struggle, with accumulating credit, for the college which this day sits a queen to adorn the heights at Owenton, to honor the faith, applaud the struggle, bless the toil, and requite the privation of the builders there. The college honored itself in conferring upon Brother Morris the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. His Conference honored him by election to the General Conference which was held at Dallas, Tex., in May, 1902. In all affairs of the Conference he took intelligent and earnest interest. Brother Morris knew what he believed. He had convictions, clean and clear. He was no trimmer. When issues shaped, he took sides and stayed there—yet with considerate charity for the other side. On December 12, 1866, Brother Morris was married to Miss Mattie A. Williams, of Greensboro, Ala., Rev. Billups B. Gayle, of the Alabama Conference, performing the ceremony. For more than fifty-eight years these two walked side by side, with identity of spirit and purpose, with fidelity each to other, meeting the issues of life as they came,

making the best of their gifts and graces and opportunities for God's glory in the betterment of humanity. On Sunday morning, March 1, 1925, from the home in Woodlawn, Birmingham, Ala., the pure spirit of our brother took its flight. Of the ten children, one has passed over the river. The others abide. The mantle of the father is upon two of his sons (W. E. and J. E.), honored among us as worthy to follow together with us all in paths of service where the footprints of their father will abide.—E. M. Glenn.

THOMAS OZLEY JONES was born in Shelby County, Ala., February 4, 1861. He was the son of Nathan and Winifred Jones. While Thomas was yet a child, they moved to what was to become the great industrial county of Jefferson. He grew up in the old Pleasant Hill community, noted for its most excellent citizenship and for a Church life that was equaled then in few communities. It was also the seat of the Pleasant Hill Academy, presided over by that prince of educators, Prof. W. McAdory. He pursued secular lines of endeavor till he was going toward middle life, when the influences of home and the environment of this fine section came to its fruition in the life of Tom Jones, and he surrendered his life to the Lord and answered the call to preach the gospel. It was under the tutelage and influence of Professor McAdory that T. O. Jones received the training which, linked on to his wonderful personality, plus the baptism of the Holy Spirit, made him a great power with God and with men. On February 28, 1887, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Melissa Loveless. It is no wonder that all the sons and daughters of this union should be choice spirits, industrious, prosperous, and religious, when we consider the fact that their parents were scions of two of Jefferson's most honored families. These worthy children are Fred, of Hamilton, Ala.; Minnie, Frank, Newman, Clarence, Mary (Mrs. W. L. McAllister) of Birmingham; Martha (Mrs. R. D. Anderson), of Miami, Fla.; Thomas, Elizabeth, Ray, and Hugh, of Birmingham. Brother Jones joined the North Alabama Conference at Birmingham in 1890, Bishop Granbery presiding. He received ordination as deacon at LaFayette in 1892 by Bishop Keener, and then in 1894 he was ordained elder by Bishop Duncan at Athens. He served the following charges: Luxapalila Circuit, 1891; Tuscaloosa Circuit, 1892-93; Heflin Circuit, 1894-95; Alexander Circuit, 1896-97; Leeds Circuit,

1898-01; ham Circ ham, 190 Fairview, Conferen chaplain. County, passed fr falling through wating. Jones cou and wou nothing speak, by eye. Bu again an even gre days was service t and fat. His devo beautiful ly to each would a His hom each one did right he could he spent the needi in giving tion nec life, plac ants. As for our c where to politics. Jefferson ship. If he had t that he h as many county a best eler part in p and yet He was Masons. Freemans of this gr men, co them th mightily He used end. B was both Mason, of which all but this gra ritual an making the best of their gifts and graces and opportunities for God's glory in the betterment of humanity. On Sunday morning, March 1, 1925, from the home in Woodlawn, Birmingham, Ala., the pure spirit of our brother took its flight. Of the ten children, one has passed over the river. The others abide. The mantle of the father is upon two of his sons (W. E. and J. E.), honored among us as worthy to follow together with us all in paths of service where the footprints of their father will abide.—E. M. Glenn.

THOMAS OZLEY JONES was born in Shelby County, Ala., February 4, 1861. He was the son of Nathan and Winifred Jones. While Thomas was yet a child, they moved to what was to become the great industrial county of Jefferson. He grew up in the old Pleasant Hill community, noted for its most excellent citizenship and for a Church life that was equaled then in few communities. It was also the seat of the Pleasant Hill Academy, presided over by that prince of educators, Prof. J. W. McAdory. He pursued secular lines of endeavor till he was going toward middle life, when the influences of home and the environment of this fine section came to its fruition in the life of Tom Jones, and he surrendered his life to the Lord and answered the call to preach the gospel. It was under the tutelage and influence of Professor McAdory that T. O. Jones received the training which, linked on to his wonderful personality, plus the baptism of the Holy Spirit, made him a great power with God and with men. On February 28, 1887, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Melissa Loveless. It is no wonder that all the sons and daughters of this union should be choice spirits, industrious, prosperous, and religious, when we consider the fact that their parents were scions of two of Jefferson's most honored families. These worthy children are Fred, of Hamilton, Ala.; Minnie, Frank, Newman, Clarence, Mary (Mrs. W. L. McAllister), of Birmingham; Martha (Mrs. R. D. Anderson), of Miami, Fla.; Thomas, Elizabeth, Ray, and Hugh, of Birmingham. Brother Jones joined the North Alabama Conference at Birmingham in 1890, Bishop Granbery presiding. He received ordination as deacon at LaFayette in 1892 by Bishop Keener, and then in 1894 he was ordained elder by Bishop Duncan at Athens. He served the following charges: Luxapalila Circuit, 1891; Tuscaloosa Circuit, 1892-93; Heflin Circuit, 1894-95; Alexander Circuit, 1896-97; Leeds Circuit,

1898-01; Dora Station, 1902-04; Birmingham Circuit, 1905-08; Graymont, Birmingham, 1909; Goodwater Circuit, 1910-13; Fairview, Birmingham, 1914-16. At the Conference of 1916 he was appointed chaplain to the convicts of Jefferson County, which relation he held till he passed from among us. He had been in failing health for some months, but through all the days of suffering and wasting away the cheerful spirit of Tom Jones could rise superior to bodily affliction and would give evidence in some way, if nothing more when he was too weak to speak, by the characteristic twinkle of his eye. But best of all, he gave testimony again and again of his faith in God, yet even greater than the testimony of latter days was the consecrated life of sacrificial service through the years. As a husband and father, he approached the ideal. His devotion to his companion was most beautiful. The attention given individually to each one of the large family of children would attract the attention of anyone. His home was a great democracy, where each one did as he pleased, as long as he did right. While he ruled his house well, he could not be termed a ruler, for the way he spent himself for the pleasure and for the needs of his family, his sacrificing spirit in giving each one that measure of preparation necessary to practical contact with life, placed him among God's great servants. As a citizen he was ever on the alert for our country's best. You always knew where to find him. He was often active in politics, especially in his beloved county of Jefferson, where he ever kept his citizenship. If a candidate for office knew that he had the support of Tom Jones, he knew that he had the friendship of one who knew as many people as any one man in the county and one who had influence with the best element. He knew how to play that part in politics that a preacher should play and yet preserve his ministerial dignity. He was one of the State's most brilliant Masons. Next to the Church he loved Freemasonry, for it was within the pales of this great secret order that he cultivated men, coming in such close contact with them that the leaven of his Christian life mightily influenced all whom he touched. He used Masonry as a means to a great end. Besides being a Master Mason, he was both a York Rite and Scottish Rite Mason, a Shriner, member of the Grotto, of which he was chaplain. In fact, he was all but a thirty-third degree member of this great order. In discussions of Masonic ritual and work, his word was final wherever he was known. But as a pastor and preacher he did his greatest work. Perhaps no preacher did his work better, looking after the apparently small things of his charge, as well as the great causes represented in our Methodism, bringing up a report that was really marvelous at the close of each year. He preached the gospel with such tenderness that people were moved to repentance wherever he proclaimed the word. He served his Lord with a zeal that was like unto Eleazer's, whose hand clave unto the sword till the close of the day. On March 14, 1925, the keepers of the earthly temple began to tremble, finally the daughters of music were brought low, the windows were closed, the silver cord was loosed, the golden bowl was broken, the pitcher was broken at the fountain and the wheel at the cistern, and mourners for our friend went about the streets. From his nerveless grasp had dropped the working tools of life.—Henry M. Hurst.

Ques. 15. Who are the deacons of one year? Arthur Lee Lumpkin, James Paul Gilbreath, Benjamin Franklin Tingle, Percy Dennis Wilson, Calvin Grady Martin, Jesse Homa Roberts, Tony Hampton Wilson, Osie Kyle Lamb, Largus Pierce Martin, John W. Graham. 10.

Ques. 16. Who else is in the class of the fourth year? Thomas Marion Wynn, Lemuel Jefferson Kaylor, Frederick Alonzo Thornburg, Arnold Wade Gregg. 4.

Ques. 17. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected deacons? Traveling preachers, Samuel Randle Towns, Elijah Berry Ogburn, Jesse Franklin Peek, John Wesley Brooks, Grover Cleveland Corley, James Newman Floyd, James Henry Hallman, John Henry Chitwood, John McCoy Gibbs, George Astor Rice, Malta Arminter Thompson, Gurley McCoy Bynum. 12. Local preacher, Harlen Frederic Hewitt. 1.

Ques. 18. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been ordained deacons? Traveling preachers, John Wesley Brooks, Gurley McCoy Bynum, John Henry Chitwood, Grover Cleveland Corley, James Newman Floyd, John McCoy Gibbs, James Henry Hallman, Elijah Berry Ogburn, Jesse Franklin Peek, George Astor Rice, Malta Arminter Thompson, Samuel Randle Towns. 12. Local preacher, Harlen Frederic Hewitt. 1.

Ques. 19. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected elders? Traveling preachers, Henry Martin Vickers, Benjamin Wilburn Bowen,

Athens Station; 1900-02, Guntersville District; 1903-06, Woodlawn Station; 1907-09, Sylacauga Station; 1910, Pratt City Station; 1911-12, Tuscumbia Station; 1913-15, Jasper Station. On November 3, 1915, at Athens, he asked for the superannuate relation, and it was granted. When Brother Morris became an itinerant minister, and for a long time after, few were the "fat" salaries found—salaries were slender, and rations short not infrequently. During his first seven years his salary ranged from $47 to $300. In one circuit, amid-year, his horse died; and he walked 1,400 miles in serving that circuit to the end of the year. He had a family of six—the salary was less than $300. In this connection, he says that he and his wife learned economy, educated ten children, "and never left a debt or an account unpaid." In 1894, at Athens, Bishop Duncan named Brother Morris as a member of the commission to measure the feasibility of the North Alabama Conference undertaking the task of building a college for boys and men. In 1887, at Tuscaloosa, by episcopal appointment, he was made a member of the commission, then and there appointed and empowered to locate, build, and equip this same college of much moot. He was a member of the first Board of Trustees of the college at Owenton, resigning therefrom in 1904. Throughout that fretful time and difficult task full part was his in foresight and devotion and invaluable service, with heroic struggle, with accumulating credit, for the college which this day sits a queen to adorn the heights at Owenton, to honor the faith, applaud the struggle, bless the toil, and requite the privation of the builders there. The college honored itself in conferring upon Brother Morris the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. His Conference honored him by election to the General Conference which was held at Dallas, Tex., in May, 1902. In all affairs of the Conference he took intelligent and earnest interest. Brother Morris knew what he believed. He had convictions, clean and clear. He was no trimmer. When issues shaped, he took sides and stayed there—yet with considerate charity for the other side. On December 12, 1866, Brother Morris was married to Miss Mattie A. Williams, of Greensboro, Ala., Rev. Billups B. Gayle, of the Alabama Conference, performing the ceremony. For more than fifty-eight years these two walked side by side, with identity of spirit and purpose, with fidelity each to other, meeting the issues of life as they came,

making the best of their gifts and graces and opportunities for God's glory in the betterment of humanity. On Sunday morning, March 1, 1925, from the home in Woodlawn, Birmingham, Ala., the pure spirit of our brother took its flight. Of the ten children, one has passed over the river. The others abide. The mantle of the father is upon two of his sons (W. E. and J. E.), honored among us as worthy to follow together with us all in paths of service where the footprints of their father will abide.—E. M. Glenn.

THOMAS OZLEY JONES was born in Shelby County, Ala., February 4, 1861. He was the son of Nathan and Winifred Jones. While Thomas was yet a child, they moved to what was to become the great industrial county of Jefferson. He grew up in the old Pleasant Hill community, noted for its most excellent citizenship and for a Church life that was equaled then in few communities. It was also the seat of the Pleasant Hill Academy, presided over by that prince of educators, Prof. I. W. McAdory. He pursued secular lines of endeavor till he was going toward middle life, when the influences of home and the environment of this fine section came to its fruition in the life of Tom Jones, and he surrendered his life to the Lord and answered the call to preach the gospel. It was under the tutelage and influence of Professor McAdory that T. O. Jones received the training which, linked on to his wonderful personality, plus the baptism of the Holy Spirit, made him a great power with God and with men. On February 28, 1887, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Melissa Loveless. It is no wonder that all the sons and daughters of this union should be choice spirits, industrious, prosperous, and religious, when we consider the fact that their parents were scions of two of Jefferson's most honored families. These worthy children are Fred, of Hamilton, Ala.; Minnie, Frank, Newman, Clarence, Mary (Mrs. W. L. McAllister), of Birmingham; Martha (Mrs. R. D. Anderson), of Miami, Fla.; Thomas, Elizabeth, Ray, and Hugh, of Birmingham. Brother Jones joined the North Alabama Conference at Birmingham in 1890, Bishop Granbery presiding. He received ordination as deacon at LaFayette in 1892 by Bishop Keener, and then in 1894 he was ordained elder by Bishop Duncan at Athens. He served the following charges: Luxapaila Circuit, 1891; Tuscaloosa Circuit, 1892-93; Heflin Circuit, 1894-95; Alexander Circuit, 1896-97; Leeds Circuit,

1898-01; Dora Station, 1902-04; Birmingham Circuit, 1905-08; Graymont, Birmingham, 1909; Goodwater Circuit, 1910-13; Fairview, Birmingham, 1914-16. At the Conference of 1916 he was appointed chaplain to the convicts of Jefferson County, which relation he held till he passed from among us. He had been in failing health for some months, but through all the days of suffering and wasting away the cheerful spirit of Tom Jones could rise superior to bodily affliction and would give evidence in some way, if nothing more when he was too weak to speak, by the characteristic twinkle of his eye. But best of all, he gave testimony again and again of his faith in God, yet even greater than the testimony of latter days was the consecrated life of sacrificial service through the years. As a husband and father, he approached the ideal. His devotion to his companion was most beautiful. The attention given individually to each one of the large family of children would attract the attention of anyone. His home was a great democracy, where each one did as he pleased, as long as he did right. While he ruled his house well, he could not be termed a ruler, for the way he spent himself for the pleasure and for the needs of his family, his sacrificing spirit in giving each one that measure of preparation necessary to practical contact with life, placed him among God's great servants. As a citizen he was ever on the alert for our country's best. You always knew where to find him. He was often active in politics, especially in his beloved county of Jefferson, where he ever kept his citizenship. If a candidate for office knew that he had the support of Tom Jones, he knew that he had the friendship of one who knew as many people as any one man in the county and one who had influence with the best element. He knew how to play that part in politics that a preacher should play and yet preserve his ministerial dignity. He was one of the State's most brilliant Masons. Next to the Church he loved Freemasonry, for it was within the pales of this great secret order that he cultivated men, coming in such close contact with them that the heaven of his Christian life mightily influenced all whom he touched. He used Masonry as a means to a great end. Besides being a Master Mason, he was both a York Rite and Scottish Rite Mason, a Shriner, member of the Grotto, of which he was chaplain. In fact, he was all but a thirty-third degree member of this great order. In discussions of Masonic ritual and work, his word was final wherever he was known. But as a pastor and preacher he did his greatest work. Perhaps no preacher did his work better, looking after the apparently small things of his charge, as well as the great causes represented in our Methodism, bringing up a report that was really marvelous at the close of each year. He preached the gospel with such tenderness that people were moved to repentance wherever he proclaimed the word. He served his Lord with a zeal that was like unto Eleazer's, whose hand clave unto the sword till the close of the day. On March 14, 1925, the keepers of the earthly temple began to tremble, finally the daughters of music were brought low, the windows were closed, the silver cord was loosed, the golden bowl was broken, the pitcher was broken at the fountain and the wheel at the cistern, and mourners for our friend went about the streets. From his nerveless grasp had dropped the working tools of life.—Henry M. Hurst.

Ques. 15. Who are the deacons of one year? Arthur Lee Lumpkin, James Paul Gilbreath, Benjamin Franklin Tingle, Percy Dennis Wilson, Calvin Grady Martin, Jesse Homa Roberts, Tony Hampton Wilson, Osie Kyle Lamb, Largus Pierce Martin, John W. Graham. 10.

Ques. 16. Who else is in the class of the fourth year? Thomas Marion Wynn, Lemuel Jefferson Kaylor, Frederick Alonzo Thornburg, Arnold Wade Gregg. 4.

Ques. 17. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected deacons? Traveling preachers, Samuel Randle Towns, Elijah Berry Ogburn, Jesse Franklin Peek, John Wesley Brooks, Grover Cleveland Corley, James Newman Floyd, James Henry Hallman, John Henry Chitwood, John McCoy Gibbs, George Astor Rice, Malta Arminter Thompson, Gurley McCoy Bynum. 12. Local preacher, Harlen Frederic Hewitt. 1.

Ques. 18. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been ordained deacons? Traveling preachers, John Wesley Brooks, Gurley McCoy Bynum, John Henry Chitwood, Grover Cleveland Corley, James Newman Floyd, John McCoy Gibbs, James Henry Hallman, Elijah Berry Ogburn, Jesse Franklin Peek, George Astor Rice, Malta Arminter Thompson, Samuel Randle Towns. 12. Local preacher, Harlen Frederic Hewitt. 1.

Ques. 19. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected elders? Traveling preachers, Henry Martin, Vickers, Benjamin Wilburn Bowen,