

JOURNAL
of the
HOLSTON ANNUAL CONFERENCE
of
The Methodist Church

OFFICIAL RECORD
OF THE
ONE HUNDRED THIRTY SEVENTH SESSION

HELD AT CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE
JUNE 10-13, 1960

OFFICERS OF THE CONFERENCE

BISHOP ROY H. SHORT, D. D., 201 Eighth Avenue,
South, Nashville, Tennessee President

REV. MARION A. STEVENSON, P. O. Box 346,
Pearisburg, Virginia Secretary

REV. O. R. TARWATER, D. D., Route 8, Box 566
Johnson City, Tennessee Secretary Emeritus

REV. PRINCE A. EADES, 6314 Brainerd Road
Chattanooga, Tennessee Assistant Secretary

REV. CLAUDE T. MILLER, 2220 Owoosso Court,
Orlando, Florida Assistant Secretary

REV. JAMES L. PATTERSON, P. O. Box 292
Rossville, Georgia Assistant Secretary

REV. R. KYLE TOMLINSON, 2708 N. Chamberlain Avenue
Chattanooga, Tennessee Assistant Secretary

REV. DENNIS W. GILLESPIE,
Coeburn, Virginia Assistant Secretary

REV. JACOB P. RAMSEY, P. O. Box 253,
Signal Mountain, Tennessee Statistician

REV. CLIFF B. HARBOUR, P. O. Box 76,
Norton, Virginia Business Manager Journal

MR. H. B. HAUK, 205 N. Morgan Street,
Kingsport, Tennessee Conference Lay Leader

HAMILTON NATIONAL BANK,
Johnson City, Tennessee Conference Treasurer

Edited by
MARION A. STEVENSON, CLAUDE T. MILLER,
R. KYLE TOMLINSON

PRICE $1.25

282995

A OGLE LEMING

was born on February 16th, 1891 in William and Katherine Ogle. It was hered in a Christian home, which was id piety. As the twig is bent so grows ties to her Master and The Methodist e remained true throughout her life. with her parents to Knoxville, where hood. She was wooed and won in Leming on June 14th, 1911. To this ll of whom survive her: Earl E., a ville Bar; Mrs. Edith M. Kleintop of Mae Payne of Arizona; W. H. Jr. of ; and Clyde P. of Corrington.

ming set their feet in the way of the n forty years they traveled together, y the following Charges: West Lons- on; Strawberry Plains Circuit; Coal ; Perry Chapel; Stony Point Circuit; hapel; French Broad Circuit; New Pittsburg Parish; Cardwell-Bradbury; erever their lot was cast they were l spirit was contagious, dispelling itality and one into which her friends ves of the preachers of the Clinton espite a heart condition during her rength, her courage to face life with iction to all. No sacrifice was too she gave it her best. She lived a rich ueathed a legacy which rubies and February 29th, 1960 the angels kissed r through the Gates of Eternal Life and care her body was interred in e: Thank God for a life like hers.

Blackard.

HA M. PIPPIN

ew life in Southwest Virginia, a new W. Rhodes on May 26, 1875; a daugh- is a Methodist minister. Her mother, ristian woman. They had prayers in worked together, sang together and one was the preachers' home, for te a bit of time visiting in the homes d in such a home as this, she was

Milburn Pippin were united in the uary 7, 1894. He was the son of the ather was also a Methodist minister. r minister-husband from one charge rt as a companion and mother. She l in his ministry, being active in the nd died in April, 1942. They served nd Tennessee. Among those served around Knoxville were Asbury, Vestal, Ebenezer, Emerald Avenue, South Knoxville and New Salem. A great part of her seventeen years as a widow were spent in Fountain City. She was a member of the Fountain City Methodist church where she remained active and interested in the work of the Kingdom. She served as the assistant teacher for the Loyal Helpers Class of that church for some time.

In June, 1956, Mrs. Pippin was stricken with a blood clot which cost her her right leg. With her usual sweet smile and calmness she accepted her misfortune, and was soon getting about in her wheel chair. Within a short time after surgery she was walking with an artificial limb. She still remained active in her church as long as she was physically able and her cheerfulness was an inspiration to all who knew her. Only on Monday before she passed away on the following Friday, she attended the Methodist Ministers Wives' Luncheon at Central church in Knoxville and had a wonderful time. She slipped away suddenly early in the morning as she was dressing on October 16, 1959, and joined her loved ones who had gone to meet their Heavenly Father.

Mrs. Pippin is survived by two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Charles Graham of Knoxville; Mrs. Velma O'Brien of Washington, D. C.; Earl C. of Chattanooga, Tennessee; William V. of Jacksonville, Florida. Four months after her passing, her oldest son, Thomas N. Pippin of Macon, Georgia, died suddenly of a heart attack. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. J. C. Dishman of Bristol, Virginia.

Mrs. Pippin's funeral was conducted by her pastor, Dr. H. Olin Troy, Dr. J. Woodford Stone, and a very close friend and pastor of her daughter, Dr. Robert H. Duncan. She was laid to rest by the side of her husband on October 18, 1959, in Woodlawn cemetery in Knoxville, Tennessee.

Mrs. R. L. Leslie

Mrs. J. T. Bird

MRS. ETHEL STOWERS RAMSEY

Mrs. Ethel Stowers Ramsey, born October 5, 1887, died unexpectedly January 20, 1960, at 6:20 p.m. at the Holston Valley Community Hospital. She was the widow of the Reverend P. E. Ramsey, a Methodist minister of the Holston Conference who died August 13, 1952. Mrs. Ramsey was born in Morgan County, Tennessee, and was reared in Morgan and Fentress Counties. Mrs. Ramsey moved here from Unicoi, Tennessee, in 1940. She attended Kingsley Methodist Church. She was an active member of the Woman's Society of Christian Service as long as her health permitted.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. Gertrude Dixon and Mrs. Eva Moore of Kingsport, Tennessee, Mrs. Debbie Dixon of Dell, Arkansas, and Mrs. Freddia Dixon of Keiser, Arkansas; four sons: Albert M. Ramsey, Delbert W., Coble W., and Perry Emmett, Jr.; two brothers; the Reverend Willie Stowers of Sparta, Tennessee, and Denton Stowers of Flint, Michigan; 28 grandchildren; and 14 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Ramsey lived in the atmosphere of Paul's Ephesian word—Christ also loved the Church and gave himself for it. There never was a wife of any minister and parsonage who was more genuinely a part of the ministry and life of her husband than Mrs. Ramsey. The very superior ability and strength of character of this godly mother were nowhere else quite as strongly in evidence as in the managing and the directing of her family and household affairs, looking after their needs, both physical and spiritual. She survived the passing of her preaching husband, the Reverend P. E. Ramsey, by almost eight years. For over forty years she shared the concern of her husband and bore a good confession. Over and above all she was a woman of great faith; her confidence in God was altogether stable. In both joy and sorrow she was willing to rest upon the Lord's promises. The one word that all her friends used to describe her was that she was "faithful"—faithful to her family and her God. She usually quoted these lines:

"Thro' many dangers, toils, and snares,
I have already come:

'Tis grace that brought me safe thus far,
And grace will lead me home."

The funeral services were held in the Rock Springs Methodist Church, conducted by the writer and assisted by Reverend J. F. Payne and Reverend Odell Jordan. Interment was in the Church Cemetery.

W. S. Robinette

MRS. FRED D. WATSON

Mrs. Irma Wells Watson was born at Marvin in Greene County, Tennessee, March 6, 1899, the daughter of Morris H. and Rhoda Orr Wells. She accepted Christ when very young and united with the Antioch Methodist Church in January, 1909. After graduating from the Mosheim High School, she attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music for several years. Following her training in Cincinnati she taught music in the Greene County High Schools, and later established a Studio of Music in Greeneville, Tennessee, where she taught piano and voice for twelve years.

On November 12, 1935 she was married to the Reverend Fred D. Watson, a member of the Holston Conference of The Methodist Episcopal Church, the ceremony being performed by the Reverend Earl Milburn, in Jefferson City, Tennessee.

Mrs. Watson was ill for several years and suffered very much from her affliction before passing to her reward in heaven on August 20, 1959. She is survived by her husband, the Reverend Fred D. Watson of Mosheim, Tennessee, and two brothers: Dr. E. O. Wells of Jefferson City and Mr. W. Hendley Wells of Greeneville.

Mrs. Watson had a lovely and sunny disposition and was greatly loved by all who knew her. Her faith in God as a Christian and her qualities of character and soul will pass into eternity and ever remain a part of her. Her central interest was sacred and classical music, which she taught to inspire all whom it was her privilege to know and serve.

Mrs. Watson carried her love of music along with her positive and active Christian faith into the churches, the choirs and into the homes of the people where her distinguished husband served as pastor and district superintendent.

Mrs. Watson dearly loved her home church and community and rendered a most appreciative and tender service to the children and young people, and to all in the ministry of music, and in teaching church school classes, in her work with the Woman's Society of