- 2. The Board of Directors shall prescribe standards and procedures for the establishment of chapters, including requirements for democratic selection of chapter officers and open operating procedures.
- 3. The Board of Directors shall receive and review applications for recognition as a chapter, may approve, modify or reject such application in accordance with stated procedures, shall provide oversight of chapter operations, and may revoke chapter certification for cause.

Standards and Procedures Prescribed by Board of Directors

1. Definition of Chapter

- a. A chapter is a unit of Methodists United for Peace with Justice, organized to carry out the purposes of Methodists United within the chapter area.
- b. Chapters may take initiatives within the framework of the purposes and overall policies of Methodists United. But chapters function under the oversight of the Board of Directors, as indicated in the Bylaws.

2. Chapter Membership

- a. All members of Methodists United in good standing residing in a chapter area shall be considered chapter members and shall have voting rights in the chapter. Such members may be recruited by the chapter or by the national organization.
 - b. All members shall pay membership dues to Methodists United, as established by the Board of Directors. The Board may work out a dues sharing arrangement with individual chapters. Chapters may request voluntary donations from chapter members beyond their national dues, but this shall not be a condition of chapter membership. Chapters may engage in other fundraising activities.

3. Geographic Areas

- a. Chapters may be formed within specific geographic areas, such as a state, a city, a metropolitan area, an annual conference of the United Methodist Church, or combined conference areas of two or more Methodist denominations.
- b. Chapter boundaries may be proposed by chapter organizers or may be specified by the Board of Directors. The Board shall make final determination in order to prevent overlapping chapter boundaries and to achieve workable chapters.

4. Chapter Officers and Operating Procedures

- a. Each chapter may determine its own officers. Such officers shall be elected by mail ballot of all members within the chapter area.
- b. Chapter officers shall provide members at least ten days notice of all chapter meetings. Meeting procedures shall be open and democratic.

5. Chapter Formation

- a. Chapters may be initiated by the Board of Directors, or a chapter may be formed by members of Methodists United residing within the proposed chapter area.
- b. When a chapter is organized by members in the chapter area, the organizers shall submit to the Board of Directors a plan of chapter organization, which shall indicate:
 - i. Proposed territory
 - ii. Chapter officers and selection process
 - iii. Chapter operating procedures, including meeting notice
 - iv. Initial activities intended
 - v. Budget, including proposed revenues and expenditures
 - vi. Proposal for dues sharing, if applicable
- c. A chapter plan shall be submitted at least 30 days prior to a meeting of the Board of Directors, although the Board may grant a waiver of submission time if it chooses.
- d. The Board shall give prompt consideration of each chapter application. If the Board modifies or rejects an application, it shall state its reasons in writing.

e. A chapter shall remain in existence until it voluntarily dissolves or until its chapter authorization is revoked by the Board of Directors.

6. Revocation

- a. The Board of Directors may revoke a chapter's authorization if the Board determines that the chapter is not functioning within the purpose and operation procedures of Methodists United.
- b. The Board, or the Executive Committee, shall give chapter officers at least 30 days notice that revocation is under consideration and shall give them an opportunity to appear before the Board.
 - c. If the Board votes to revoke chapter certification, it shall state its reasons in writing.

A Resolution on Arab-Israeli Conflict

Adopted by Board of Directors

March 15, 1991

Even as we experience the end of war, we are also concerned about the aftermath of the Persian Gulf conflict and especially the heightening of tensions and hostilities generated by the conflict between Israel and the Palestinians.

We pray that the government of Israel and the Palestinians will enter into negotiations over legitimate concerns of both, rather than pursuing methods of retaliation.

We call upon the U.S. government to take the initiative in promoting and participating in multilateral negotiations for peace in the Middle East, including all parties involved in the conflict as well as permanent members of the Security Council of the United Nations.

Because Jesus has commanded us to be peacemakers, we call upon United Methodist congregations to take the following actions.

- 1. Pray for peace in the Middle East in both personal and group prayers.
- 2. Write President Bush and members of Congress urging of our government's promotion and participation in multilateral negotiations on this conflict.

- 3. Avoid stereotyping Arabs and Jews or labeling them in a negative way.
- 4. Call for the protection of civil liberties and welfare of Arab-American and Jews who might be at risk of discrimination.
- 5. Contribute to humanitarian aid to refugees through such organizations as the United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR), other religious agencies, United Nations, or non-governmental organizations.
- 6. Urge the General Boards of Church and Society and of Global Ministries and the General Commission on Christian Unity and Interreligious Concerns to develop and disseminate educational materials which aim to help United Methodists understand the intricacies of the Arab-Israeli conflict.
- 7. Seek opportunities in local churches to develop a deeper understanding of the beliefs and cultures of Muslims and Jews.

Notes:

A Resolution on Iraqi Relief Proposed to United Methodist Annual Conferences by Board of Directors Methodists United for Peace with Justice

Whereas, Jesus taught us to love our enemies, even as God makes the sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous (Matthew 5:45);

Whereas, the Apostle Paul has taught us not to repay anyone evil for evil, but that if our enemies are hungry to feed them, if they are thirsty to give them something to drink (Romans 12:17 & 20);

Whereas, the Church is called to embody God's love for all people;

Whereas, although President Bush stated repeatedly that the United States has no quarrel with the Iraqi people, many Iraqi civilians were killed or injured as a result of coalition bombing in the Persian Gulf War;

Whereas, the people of Iraq suffered from massive destruction of their roads, bridges, utilities, and airfields, leaving them unable to provide necessary medical and relief services;

Whereas, President Bush has stated that not one dime of U.S. taxpayers' money will be spent to rebuild Iraq;

Therefore, be it resolved that the ______ Conference of the United Methodist Church call upon the United Methodist General Board of Global Ministries to organize delegations and work teams to visit Iraq with medical and relief supplies (purchased with funds raised by special offerings), working with Christian churches in Iraq. Wherever possible, these groups are asked to coordinate their purchasing and relief efforts with the work of the United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR).

Be it further resolved that we call upon the Council of Bishops to send a similar delegation to Iraq to express the deep concern of the whole Church for those who suffer.

The Call

The United Methodist bishops in their 1986 pastoral letter, In Defense of Creation: The Nuclear Crisis and a Just Peace, called for greater witness and action for peace and justice. In response, Methodists United for Peace with Justice formed as a national association of laity and clerg y.

As our name "Methodists United" indicates, we seek the participation of persons from the African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Christian Methodist Episcopal, Free Methodist, and United Methodist denominations in the United States. However, we are not an official part of any Methodist denomination.

Current Agenda

We have adopted "Swords into Plowshares" as our major theme for the 1990s. To implement this theme we are working for:

- Global nuclear disarmament. We support the total elimination of all nuclear weapons everywhere on Earth. We advocate immediate deactivation of all strategic and tactical nuclear weapons, followed by dismantlement in stages. We favor a comprehensive test ban treaty and rigorous enforcement of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty with universal membership. We oppose the futile attempt to erect a strategic defense.
- Shifts in federal budget priorities. We are working to achieve a significant reduction in military spending and to shift resources to programs that meet urgent human needs in the United States and in developing nations. Out of respect for future generations, we advocate federal deficit reduction through fair taxation, based upon ability to pay.

- Justice. We are committed to working for human rights, the needs of children and youth, economic security for all, and overcoming homelessness and lack of affordable housing.
- Economic conversion. We favor converting resources now directed to military production to socially useful purposes.
- International institutions. We look to the United Nations and other international organizations as primary vehicles for resolving international conflict and peacekeeping operations.
- Middle East. We support efforts to resolve Arab/Israeli conflict in a way that assures security and self-determination for all peoples and nations in the Middle East.
- Arms trade, regional disarmament. We urge curtailment of the global arms trade and military technology. We advocate disarmament initiatives in the Middle East and other regions of the globe.

Modes of Operation

Education. Through our publications we provide information on current issues to people around the country who are active in local churches and Methodist district and conference units. We also offer nonpartisan policy ideas to governmental officials and civic leaders and to the media. We gather information through our own research and through participation in national coalitions on arms reduction, budget priorities, and human needs.

Public policy advocacy. From a base in Washington, D.C. we engage in public policy advocacy directed toward Congress and the federal executive. We provide timely information on legislative issues to grassroots Methodists around the country. Occasionally we send out petitions for circulation.

Ecclesial. We foster Pan-Methodist collaboration on peace and justice issues, and we work cooperatively with official denominational units. From time to time we provide draft resolutions to our contacts within Methodist annual conferences, and we make our own proposals to the general conferences.

Nuclear Disarmament: The Zero Option

Saying "No" to Nuclear Deterrence

In 1986 the United Methodist Council of Bishops, after nearly two years of prayerful and penitent study, adopted a pastoral letter and foundation document entitled In Defense of Creation: The Nuclear Crisis and a Just Peace. The bishops' statement was deeply rooted in biblical faith. They wrote:

At the heart of the Old Testament is the testimony of shalom, that marvelous Hebrew word that means peace. But the peace that is shalom is not negative or one-dimensional. It is much more than the absence of war. Shalom is positive peace: harmony, wholeness, health, and well-being in all human relationships. It is the natural state of humanity as birthed by God. It is harmony between humanity and all of God's good creation. All of creation is interrelated. Every creature, every element, every force of nature participates in the whole of creation. If any persons is denied shalom, all are thereby diminished.¹

New Testament faith presupposes a radical break between the follies, or much so-called conventional wisdom about power and security, on the one hand, and the transcendent wisdom of shalom, on the other. Ultimately, New Testament faith is message of hope about God's plan and purpose for human destiny. It is a redemptive vision that refuses to wallow in doom.²

² Op. cit., p. 28.

Based upon this faith the bishops in their pastoral letter stated unequivocally that:

we say a clear and unconditional No to nuclear war and to any use of nuclear weapons. We conclude that nuclear deterrence is a position that cannot receive the church's blessing.³

The implication is clear. If nuclear weapons cannot be legitimately used for either deterrence or warfighting, no nation should possess them. Accordingly, in the foundation document the bishops indicated:

We support the earliest possible negotiation of phased but rapid reduction of nuclear arsenals, while calling upon all other nuclear-weapon states to agree to parallel arms reductions, to the eventual goal of a mutual and verifiable dismantling of all nuclear armaments.4

The World Today

Since 1986 remarkable events have occurred. The Cold War between the United States and the Soviet Union has ended. The Berlin wall has fallen. Eastern Europe is free from Soviet control. The Warsaw Pact has gone out of existence. The Soviet Union itself has dissolved. Most of the independent republics of the former USSR are committed to democracy and a free-market economy. Together they form a weak conferation, the Commonwealth of Independent States (C.I.S). This transition holds great promise but also has many uncertainties and potential instability.

⁴ Op. cit., p. 76.

³ Op. cit., p. 92.

The Cold War was the primary reason that the global nuclear arsenal grew to enormous size.

The United States and the Soviet Union developed their fleets of strategic bombers, intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs), and submarine-launched ballistic missiles (SLBMs) to hold each other hostage under a doctrine of mutual assured destruction. The first theater nuclear weapons were deployed in Europe because of Cold War confrontation between the two blocs. Great Britain, France, and China became nuclear nations as a byproduct of the Cold War.

With the Cold War ended, now is the time to exercise the zero option: to eliminate all nuclear weapons throughout the globe. That means reducing to zero the supply of all types of nuclear weapons held by all possessors. It means a halt to all testing and weapons production. It means preventing all non-possessor nations from acquiring nuclear weapons.

A promising start on the journey has occurred through the initiative taken by U.S. President George Bush on September 21, 1991 to commence the withdrawal of nuclear weapons and the response of Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev on October 5. Since then President Bush and Russian President Boris Yeltsin have offered further proposals to reduce the nuclear arsenal. We welcome these initiatives. They constitute a good beginning. But much more should be done promptly. Therefore, we call for further steps of nuclear arms reduction.

Strategic Nuclear Weapons: Zero

Approximately one half of the global nuclear arsenal is composed of strategic weapons designed to attack the adversary's homeland from afar. They can be launched from land, sea, and air. In spite of entering a new era of cooperation, the United States and the Commonwealth of Independent States continue to target one another with these highly lethal weapons. From the perspective of both nations these strategic weapons are the only danger of foreign attack. Accordingly:

- We recommend that the United States and the Commonwealth of Independent States immediately and concurrently deactivate their entire land- and sea-based strategic arsenal. They should:
 - -- Bring all strategic submarines into port, remove their missiles, and take off the warheads.
 - -- Open all ICBM silos, take out the missiles, place them on the ground, and remove the warheads.
- We hope that Great Britain, France, and China will understand the necessity to immediately deactivate their strategic arsenal: land-, air-, and sea-based.
- After deactivation is accomplished, the United States and the Commonwealth of Independent States should work out a schedule for dismantling all strategic nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles and destroying their warheads. Great Britain, France, and China should join this schedule. The process should be implemented in an agreed sequence that is balanced so that at no stage could any nation gain an advantage.

Tactical Nuclear Weapons: Zero

The other half of the global nuclear arsenal is composed of tactical nuclear weapons with relatively short range and intended for combat use on land, at sea, and in the air.

 We praise President Bush's decision to eliminate the United States' entire worldwide inventory of nuclear artillery shells and short-range ballistic missile warheads. Based in Europe and South Korea, and perhaps elsewhere, they have no military utility because their use would have devastating effects on the countries they are intended to defend. With the Soviet army leaving Central and Eastern Europe, there is no adversary possessing theater nuclear weapons.

Likewise in Korea the U.S. tactical nuclear force was arrayed against an adversary not possessing this type of weapon.

- We support the withdrawal of all U.S. tactical nuclear weapons from surface ships and attack submarines and from land-based naval aircraft. We urge that all of the warheads be dismantled and destroyed, not leaving any in storage for future use.
- We also call for elimination of all U.S. nuclear bombs and missiles carried on tactical aircraft, a significant omission from President Bush's proposal. In Europe U.S. tactical aircraft have no adversaries to target with nuclear weapons because of the dissolution of the Warsaw Pact, the freeing of Eastern Europe, and the achievement of independence by the republics of the former Soviet Union and their commitment to democracy and a free-market economy. Moreover, there are no other legitimate targets for U.S. tactical nuclear bombs and air-launched missiles anywhere else on Earth.
- We praise commitment made by former Soviet President Gorbachev to eliminate the entire Soviet inventory of nuclear artillery, nuclear warheads for short-range ballistic missiles, and nuclear land mines. They have no military utility in international warfare, and their elimination will prevent their use in any future conflict within and between the republics of the Commonwealth of Independent States.

We support the withdrawal of all Soviet tactical nuclear weapons from surface ships and multi-purpose submarines and the removal of all nuclear warheads from anti-aircraft missiles.

We urge that all of these missiles and warheads be dismantled and destroyed, not leaving any in storage for future use.

■ We anticipate that Great Britain, France, and China will choose to eliminate all of their tactical nuclear weapons and that any unadmitted possessors will do likewise.

Testing and Production: Zero

With a commitment to move to global nuclear disarmament -- the zero option, there is no further need to develop, test, and produce new nuclear warheads and delivery vehicles. Therefore:

■ We call upon all nuclear weapon states immediately to:

-- Cease production of nuclear weapons material.

-- Halt all testing of nuclear warheads.

-- Stop assemblage of new warheads.

We also call upon all nuclear weapon states to discontinue the manufacture of new missiles, bombers, and strategic submarines.

We recommend the closure of all nuclear weapons production facilities, except as they might be used to disassemble nuclear warheads and convert nuclear material to non-weapon use.

We recommend a program to assist workers, companies, and communities engaged in producing nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles to convert to non-military activities.

Nonproliferation: Universal

It is essential that no other nation acquire nuclear weapons and delivery capacity while the current possessors are eliminating their nuclear arsenal. Accordingly:

- We call upon all nations to become signatories the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT) and to abide by its provisions.
- We call for strengthening provisions of the Non-proliferation Treaty and for vigorous enforcement.
- We call for an international system to prevent the development, production, and deployment of ballistic missiles that can be used to attack an adversary's homeland and for the destruction of all such missiles now in existence.

Strategic Defense: Unnecessary

By moving promptly and resolutely to complete strategic disarmament and by achieving a diligent nonproliferation regime to block the spread of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles, no system of strategic defense will be required. The zero option provides necessary homeland security.

Therefore:

- We call for the United States and the Commonwealth of Independent States to disband all efforts of develop and deploy a strategic defense system.
- We call upon the Commonwealth of Independent States to dismantle its existing ground-based strategic defense.

We believe that the danger of any new nation developing nuclear weapons and ICBM delivery capacity can be handled through an effective international nonproliferation regime. A strategic defense network is not needed for that purpose.

Conclusion

We fervently believe that these recommendations will greatly enhance global security by eliminating the possibility of nuclear war. Furthermore, the resources of human talent, production capacity, and money released can become available to deal with urgent human problems around the globe. The zero option provides great hope for global peace and prosperity.

Origin

The United Methodist bishops in their 1986 pastoral letter, In Defense of Creation: The Nuclear Crisis and a Just Peace, called for greater witness and action for peace and justice. In response, Methodists United for Peace with Justice formed as a national association of laity and clergy.

As our name "Methodists United" indicates, we seek the participation of persons from the African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion, Christian Methodist Episcopal, Free Methodist, and United Methodist denominations in the United States. However, we are not an official part of any Methodist denomination.

Publications

Witnessing for Peace and Justice: Peacemaker Handbook offers ideas on how local groups can carry out a threefold approach to peace and justice: Prayer, Study, and Action.

Peace Leaf is our quarterly educational bulletin. It features background information on public issues and ideas for local activities.

Peace/Justice Alert focuses on actions citizens can take on specific public issues, especially on pending decisions being made in Washington by Congress and the President.

To Join

Membership in Methodists United for Peace with Justice is open to individuals and organizations sharing our purposes. Suggested minimum annual membership contribution is $15 for individuals and $50 for organizations. Greater amounts are welcome. To join, send your check, name, and address to Methodists United for Peace with Justice, 421 Seward Square, SE, Washington, DC 20003.

PROPOSALS TO 1992 UNITED METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE

A resolution on "Nuclear Disarmament: the Zero Option". Reaffirming the 1986 position of the United Methodist Council of Bishops that said "no" to nuclear deterrence and presented "the eventual goal of a mutual and verifiable dismantling of all nuclear armaments." Stating: "With the Cold War ended, now is the time to exercise the zero option: to eliminate all nuclear weapons throughout the globe." Objectives include (1) immediate deactivation of all strategic weapons followed by staged, total dismantlement; (2) elimination of all tactical nuclear weapons; (3) ending of all testing and production of additional nuclear weapons; (4) a vigorous and universal nonproliferation regime; and (5) termination of efforts to develop strategic defense. — Offered by Board of Directors, Methodists United for Peace with Justice

A resolution on "terrorism", offering a approach to the causes of terrorism, supporting international conflict resolution, and opposing indiscriminate military force to combat terrorism. —— Offered by Henry Schwarzmann, chair, Peace with Justice Task Force, and Sherman Harris, chair, Board of Church and Society, Baltimore Conference.

A resolution entitled "Developing a national consensus for clergy and laity underneath the myth in the Third World and the United States: who are the future world controllers?" -- Offered by Sherman Harris, chair, Board of Directors, Methodists United for Peace with Justice.

A resolution on "Support for the United Nations", urging "the United States Government to provide its full share of financial support for the United Nations, related international organizations, and United Nations peacekeeping force." — offered by Howard W. Hallman, executive director, Methodists United for Peace with Justice.

A proposal to amend Paragraph 74(G) of The Book of Discipline on the Social Principles to "call upon the church to encourage its members to choose conscientious objection to military service as a faithful response to the Gospel." -- offered by John D. Copenhaver, Jr., a clergy member of the Virginia Conference.

DRAFT

Nuclear Abolition

Saying "No" to Nuclear Deterrence

In 1986 the United Methodist Council of Bishops, after nearly two years of prayerful and penitent study, adopted a pastoral letter and foundation document entitled In Defense of Creation: The Nuclear Crisis and a Just Peace. The bishops' statement was deeply rooted in biblical faith. They wrote:

¹ United Methodist Council of Bishops, In Defense of Creation: The Nuclear Crisis and a Justice Peace. Nashville: Graded Press, 1986.

At the heart of the Old Testament is the testimony of shalom, that marvelous Hebrew word that means peace. But the peace that is shalom is not negative or one-dimensional. It is much more than the absence of war. Shalom is positive peace: harmony, wholeness, health, and well-being in all human relationships. It is the natural state of humanity as birthed by God. It is harmony between humanity and all of God's good creation. All of creation is interrelated. Every creature, every element, every force of nature participates in the whole of creation. If any persons is denied shalom, all are thereby diminished....²

New Testament faith presupposes a radical break between the follies, or much so-called conventional wisdom about power and security, on the one hand, and the transcendent wisdom of shalom, on the other. Ultimately, New Testament faith is message of hope about God's plan and purpose for human destiny. It is a redemptive vision that refuses to wallow in doom.³

Based upon this faith the bishops in their pastoral letter stated unequivocally that:

² Op. cit., p. 24.

³ Op. cit., p. 28.

we say a clear and unconditional No to nuclear war and to any use of nuclear weapons. We conclude that nuclear deterrence is a position that cannot receive the church's blessing.⁴

The implication is clear. If nuclear weapons cannot be legitimately used for either deterrence or warfighting, no nation should possess them.

Accordingly, in the foundation document the bishops indicated:

We support the earliest possible negotiation of phased but rapid reduction of nuclear arsenals, while calling upon all other nuclear-weapon states to agree to parallel arms reductions, to the eventual goal of a mutual and verifiable dismantling of all nuclear armaments.⁵

In 1988 the United Methodist General Conference affirmed and supported the statements of the Council of Bishops contained in In Defense of Creation. Four years later, in a resolution entitled "Nuclear Disarmament:

The Zero Option", the 1992 General Conference, stated that "now is the time

⁴ Op. cit., p. 92.

⁵ Op. cit., p. 76.

⁶ Book of Resolutions [to be completed] to exercise the zero option: to eliminate all nuclear weapons throughout the globe" and offered a series of concrete actions for achieving this goal.

Goals and Objectives

We reaffirm the goal of total abolition of all nuclear weapons throughout Earth and space. This can occur by achieving the following objectives:

- Complete elimination of all nuclear weapons by all possessors.
- Complete elimination of all delivery vehicles by all possessors.
- Termination of all development, production, and testing of nuclear weapons by all nations and by all individuals and groups with nuclear ambition.
- Prevention of all non-possessors from developing and otherwise acquiring nuclear weapons and their delivery vehicles.

⁷ The Book of Resolutions of the United Methodist Church, 1992. p. 601.

These objectives should be achieved as soon as possible through a combination of international treaties and reciprocal national initiatives, carried out with adequate verification.

Progress and Prospects

The Cold War between the United States and the Soviet Union, which dominated world politics for more than four decades, has ended. The Berlin wall has fallen. Eastern Europe is free from Soviet control. The Warsaw Pact has gone out of existence. The Soviet Union itself has dissolved. Most of the independent republics of the former USSR are committed to democracy and a free-market economy.

Yet remaining is a large portion of the huge nuclear arsenal accumulated by the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, France, and China to apply the pernicious doctrine of mutually assured destruction. Moreover, Israel, feeling threatened by its neighbors, has produced an undisclosed number of nuclear weapons. India has developed capability to produce nuclear weapons, and Pakistan is seeking to do likewise. Elsewhere other nations, such as North Korea, Iran, Iraq, and Libya, seem interested in acquiring nuclear weapons.

On the positive side the United States and the Soviet Union before its collapse agreed to eliminate all intermediate-range nuclear forces (INF) and to commence curtailment of long-range forces through provisions of the first Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START I). Subsequently the United States and Russia have entered into START II to achieve further reductions and are considering negotiations of START III. Belarus, Ukraine, and Kazakhstan have endorsed START II and committed themselves to eliminate all nuclear weapons left on their territories when the Soviet Union disbanded.

International treaties have created nuclear-weapon-free zones in South American, South Pacific, Antarctica, Seabed, and Outer Space. In 1995 the Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) was extended indefinitely, committing signatories not in possession of nuclear weapons to refrain from acquiring them and committing signatories possessing nuclear weapons to negotiate "a treaty on general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control." And efforts are underway by the possessor nations to negotiate, adopt, and carry out a Comprehensive Test Ban (CTB) Treaty.

These are worthy efforts in the right direction. However, they are not proceeding far enough or fast enough toward the goal of nuclear abolition.

Further Initiatives Required

As means of moving much more rapidly toward nuclear abolition, we recommend that the following initiatives be undertaken:

- All nations possessing nuclear weapons should make an unconditional pledge of no first use.
- All nuclear-weapon-free zones should be respected and further zones established.
- START II should be fully carried out as quickly as possible.
- As a prelude to further reduction, all possessor nations should immediately and concurrently deactivate their entire strategic arsenal by removing all warheads from delivery vehicles and storing them safely under international inspection.

- As a companion measure, all possessor nations should withdraw all tactical nuclear weapons from active deployment and store them safely under international inspection.
- As rapidly as possible. all deactivated strategic and tactical nuclear weapons and all delivery vehicles should be dismantled under international inspection in an agreed sequence that is balanced so that at no stage could any nation gain an advantage.
- All fissionable material removed from nuclear weapons should be rendered harmless and carefully safeguarded with continuous international inspection.
- All nations capability of producing nuclear weapons should immediately cease all production of fissionable material, testing of nuclear warheads, and manufacture of all delivery vehicles, including missiles, bombers, submarines, surface ships, and all other means of delivery.

- A global Comprehensive Test Ban should be agreed upon, honored, and enforced.
- All nuclear weapons production facilities should be closed, except as they might be used to disassemble nuclear warheads and convert nuclear material to non-weapon use.
- All nations on Earth should become signatories of the Non-Proliferation Treaty and faithfully observe its requirements.

- The Non-Proliferation Treaty should be vigorously enforced with adequate financial and technical support to detect and halt covert nuclear activities.
- An international system should be instituted to prevent the development, production, and deployment of ballistic missiles capable of attacking an adversary's homeland.

- All efforts to develop and deploy strategic anti-missle defense systems should be terminated as illusory, unnecessary, and wasteful.
- Serious efforts should be made to stimulate the development of sustainable, renewable, and environmentally friendly energy sources to replace nuclear energy, thereby eliminating a potential source of fissionable material.

Leadership for Study and Action

We call upon the Council of Bishops and the General Board of Church and Society to provide leadership, guidance, and educational material to United Methodists, congregations, and conferences in order to assist them in understanding and working for the goal and objectives of nuclear abolition.

Conclusion

We fervently believe that these recommendations will greatly enhance global security by eliminating the possibility of nuclear war. Furthermore, the resources of human talent, production capacity, and money released can become available to deal with urgent human problems around the globe.

Nuclear abolition provides great hope for global peace and prosperity.
