Dear Paul,

I am very willing to sign the "Moral Appeal for a Safer World without Nuclear Weapons" and will do what I can to promote the spread of the appeal when it is publicly released in January. I will be in Washington for six weeks (as usual) beginning in February, and will meanwhile get in touch with the contact in the Methodist office there to see how I can collaborate ecumenically.

Dear Sr Mary Evelyn,

Greetings of peace from Brussels.

In 1998, along with the World Council of Churches, Pax Christi International took the initiative in mobilising diplomatic circles at the Conference for Disarmament, at the United Nations in Geneva, to raise serious questions regarding the strategy and policy of nuclear deterrence.

A new global debate is underway on the role of nuclear weapons in the 21st century. Some people claim that the policy of deterrence still has credibility. Others are exploring new strategies, even the unilateral pre-emptive use of nuclear weapons. Still others are insisting that the only safe course is the systematic elimination of all nuclear arsenals.

In this debate many persons from the faith community, joined by others from the civic sector, want to say loud and clear that nuclear weapons are inherently immoral and should be totally and irrevocably eliminated. This is the essence of "A Moral Appeal for a Safer World without Nuclear Weapons" (see enclosed or attached the statement, in ref. SD.11.E.03)). Pax Christi International is taking a co-leadership role in promoting this Appeal. That is why we invite you as former Vice President to become a signer of the Appeal. Our current International President and the three Vice Presidents have also been invited to sign.

The Appeal cites the immorality of nuclear weapons and the dangers of their continued proliferation. It calls upon possessor states to pledge not to use nuclear weapons and to commit to an unequivocal programme for their elimination. This is consistent with the intent of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. It is also the long-held view of Pax Christi International.

In January 2004 sponsoring organizations will organise a public release of the Appeal along with the list of signers. The document will thereafter have many uses. Delegations will form to call on top officials of states possessing nuclear weapons, asking for pledges of no use and commitments to move toward their elimination. Citizens living in allied states will ask their governments to press the nuclear powers to discontinue their deadly arsenals. Educational programs will be carried out within congregations on the moral imperative to ban nuclear weapons. Faith organizations will join with civic sector organizations with a history of action for nuclear disarmament to mobilize grassroots support for elimination of nuclear weapons.

Please let us know at your earliest convenience if you willing to become a signer of "A Moral Appeal for a Safer World without Nuclear Weapons". You can reply by e-mail to Paul Lansu at paul@paxchristi.net or by regular mail to Oude Graanmarkt 21, 1000 Brussels.

Yours Sincerely,

Etienne De Jonghe
International Secretary

Dear Patriarch Michel Sabbah: President

Dear Msgr. Laurent Monsengwo, Marie Dennis and Cesar Villanueva: Vice Presidents

Greetings of peace from Brussels!

Finally, we agreed on the language of "A Moral Appeal for a Safer World Without Nuclear Weapons."

See ref.: SD.11.E.03. It was accepted within the Executive Committee to endorse this statement.

Pax Christi International is one of the main endorses of this Appeal (at the request of the Methodist United for Peace with Justice). The intention is to have the public release of the Moral Appeal, early January 2004.

It would be desirable to have 10 to 20 initial signers before the Appeal is given wider circulation for signing. Can you agree to give your name as President or as Vice President of Pax Christi International as an initial signer? We would be very pleased to receive your positive feed back.

With kind regards, Fr. Paul Lansu
